BIKES POSE BIG PROBLEM . . . A shot of a group of bikes parked at one of the local schools vividly depicts the traffic problem that results when their riders now in the classrooms take to the streets (and sidewalks). And that's just one school. Judge John D. Blaine, Press columnist, goes into this bike-riding problem in more detail in his column, 'Over the Years" in this issue. The Judge's column apears on the editorial page. Campbell Press photo.

Get Licenses

Campbell Police this week urged all bicycle owners to obtain licenses immediately. (If they have not done so already.) Licenses can be obtained at the Police Station in the City Hall on Saturdays from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m.

The police point out that licensing bikes is for the owner's protection as it greatly assists in the locating of stolen bikes. A record of the serial number is kept by the police.

The bike license costs one dollar and is good until the bike is sold or changes ownership. A transfer (if made within 10 days) costs 50 cents.

It was also emphasized that the charge for the license is $1.50 if it is not purchased within 10 days from the time of purchase of the bike.

School Board Checks on Route to Quito School

The ever-present problem of when school children must walk to school or ride the bus is facing the Campbell elementary school board again.

This time residents on Casa Blanca Lane (almost in Saratoga) have complained that the mile-long walk for their children to the Quito School is hazardous. The route follows a right-of-way through an orchard, the SP tracks and down Quito Road.

Members of the board this week personally investigated the route (some of them were reported to have walked it) and will report their findings at the board meeting Thursday, September 26.

GROUND BREAKING

The ground breaking ceremony for the long-awaited Santa Clara County Juvenile Center at First and Rosa streets in San Jose (new civic center) will take place next Monday, September 23, at noon.

Cambrian Sets up Guidance Council

Patterned after the Campbell Youth Guidance Committee, headed by Mrs. W. R. Morgan, which has been in operation for almost two years, with a record of only one repeat in 34 cases, the Cambrian Park Youth Guidance Council went into action this week.

Under the chairmanship of Clyde Williamson, supervisor of child welfare and attendance for the Santa Clara County School department, the Council is now organized and ready to handle juvenile cases referred to it by police and other officials.

As has been the case in Campbell, the Council will work with the family and youngsters to rectify the conditions and factors which may have caused the delinquency. Juvenile offenders will in the majority of cases be referred to the Council instead of being sent to the Juvenile Hall.

Referrals in the Cambrian Park set-up will be made through the San Jose Police department juvenile bureau under Lt. Leon Green. In Campbell the referrals are made by the Campbell police. Much of Cambrian Park lies within the city limits of San Jose. Part of it is also county territory.

Mrs. Morgan and Austen Warburton, chairman of the Santa Clara juvenile advisory council, have acted as consultants to the Cambrian Park group. Dean Chamberlin, Camden High principal also assisted the group in its organizational stages.

Serving on the Council with Williamson are: James Ersted, an attorney, vice-chairman; Mrs. Mary Banks, secretary; the Rev. Robert Essig, pastor of St. Frances Cabrini Catholic Church; the Rev. Sargent Wright, pastor of the Cambrian Park Methodist Church; Dr. Karl Mueller, assistant professor of psychology at San Jose State; Mrs. Dorothy Margrave, housewife and retired teacher.

ADJOURN MEETING

Campbell's regular City Council meeting for next Monday, September 23, will be adjourned until the following Monday, September 30, Mayor John M. Chargin has announced.

The adjournment is necessary because the Council and other city officials will be in attendance at the annual convention of the League of California Cities to be held in San Francisco for the first four days next week.

Cava Heads County C. of C. Managers

Sam P. Cava, secretary-manager of the Campbell Chamber of Commerce, was elected president last week of the Chamber of Commerce Secretary Managers Association of Santa Clara County.

Mrs. Margarite Powell, secretary of the Los Gatos Chamber of Commerce, was elected secretary of the association at the same time. Outgoing president was Karl S. Pearman, secretary-manager of the Santa Clara Chamber of Commerce; Sal Millan, of the San Jose Chamber of Commerce, served as secretary of the association last year.

The association is comprised of representatives from every Chamber of Commerce in the county. The group meets monthly to discuss common problems affecting the organization, including membership, agriculture and industry.

On The Line in Campbell

If you want to see how The Press panel of "experts" picks the winners for the football games this Saturday turn to the sports page. (Ed. Note: There seems to be some difference of opinion as to the outcome of some of the encounters).

Each week on the sports page you will find the choices of Mrs. Elaine Carey, Marvin Moore, Sam Reed, Benny Lujan, Bill Means, and Pete Lico. How do their predictions stack up with yours?

Some days it doesn't even pay to get up.

One houshold in this area hit the jackpot recently in the traffic ticket department. On the same day that Police Reserve Officer Don Perkins tagged the wife for going 35 in a 25 mile zone, he also tagged the husband later in a different car. Neither one could berate the other for the husband's ticket was also for 35 in a 25 zone.

Applications are now being taken at City Hall for laborer in the Department of Public Works. The salary scale is $292 to $355 in five steps, a 5% increase each year for five years.

—o—

Dick Domain, in the Department of Public Works, has been promoted from class 19 to class 21 and is now classified a street equipment operator, according to Leroy Black, superintendent of streets.

On next Tuesday, September 24, the annual San Jose Elks Lodge blood drive takes place at the Lodge room of the Elks Lodge. The drive is not limited to Elks, but anyone wishing to belong to a blood bank group may give blood and be a member of the Elk's Blood Bank. Any donor, though not an Elk, and his immediae family, is entitled to draw on the bank.

Aspiring young elementary school-age artists from the Moreland, Campbell and Saratoga school districts will compete for prizes at the Saratoga Kiwanis Youth Art Festival in conjunction with the Saratoga Kiwanis Annual Pancake Breakfast on Sunday, September 28, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Montalvo in Saratoga.

Downtown 'Face-Lift' Project Gets Boost

Face-lifting of the downtown business district of Campbell, somewhat dormant for the last few months, got another shot in the arm Tuesday when the Planning Commission approved the plans for the erection of a new store building for James DeMaria, owner of Jimmy's Shoe Shop at 401 E. Campbell Ave.

Another face-lift operation was announced on Wednesday of this week by William Lloyd of the Ainsley Corporation. Lloyd reported that construction of a new store building on the site of the former Campbell Hardware which was torn down last month should get under way next week.

The two buildings planned are the last in the series of remodeling projects on the north side of Campbell Ave. (between Harrison and Central) which will change that side of the street from a group of rundown buildings into modern and attractive business structures.

Jimmy's Shoe Shop, located between another remodeled Ainsley building and the modernized Clark's Drugs, will be razed and replaced by a modern structure that will house three stores. The new building will follow the same style of architecture as that of the Ainsley structure next to it. One of the stores will open onto the walkway that leads to the expansive parking lot, at the rear, one will open onto the parking lot and the other will front on Campbell Ave.

The approval of the plans by the Planning Commission was granted without question and several of the City Planners personally commended Tony DeMaria, who was representing his father at the meeting, for this progressive step toward improving the business disrict.

Get Pay Break

Teachers in the Campbell Elementary School District got a break this week when the Board of Trustees adopted new minimum and maximum pay scales.

According to Superintendent William C. Henley, the new scale will make an average of about seven per cent hike in pay for the 253 teachers of the district.

The new pay scale as adopted sets the minimum pay at $4,200 and the maximum at $7,400. The scale previously was from $4000 to $6,600. New state legislation allowed additional for salaries.

Enrollment for the second week of school jumped to 6,577 from the opening day enrollment of 6,388, an increase of 189, Henley also reported.

Pastor Explains 'Happiness at Church Dinner

In conjunction with a pledge drive, approximately 300 members of the Congregational Church attended a "Fellowship" dinner Monday evening and heard the Rev. Corwin H. Olds, pastor, explain "The Secret of Happiness." Due to the lack of dining space at the Congregational Church the dinner was held at the First Methodist Church on Winchester Road.

Richard Morton acted as master of ceremonies and was introduced by Ted Schenk. Other speakers were Mrs. Dorothy Royce, Mr. and Mrs. Wyland R. Morgan, and Paul Caris.

Guests introduced were ministers from other churches and men conducting the current canvass.

Mrs. Kay Taylor, director of the Church's Christian Education, gave the invocation and Reverend Olds the benediction.

'I'll Run, If You Will' Says John

"I'll run, if you will!"

That's what Mayor John M. Chargin of Campbell told Pat Brown Wednesday night when the Democrats of Santa Clara County held a reception for the attorney general who still had not said officially that his hat's in the ring against Senator William Knowland or Governor Goodwin Knight for the governor's chair.

Chargin was referring, in his greeting to Brown, to the persistent rumor that the Campbell mayor was about to announce his candidacy for the state assembly from the 29th District, the seat now occupied by Bruce Allen.

The two may-be candidates gravely shook hands.

And that's as far as it went.

Camp Fire Leaders Given Tips on Group Organizing

Pointers on how to organize groups and select leaders were given Camp Fire school coordinators from the Campbell district at a meeting last Thursday in the home of Mrs. John Nevin, Old Orchard Road. Miss Claire Burgess and Mrs. Phyllis Black, both from Camp Fire headquarters, were the speakers.

Organizing Blue Bird and Camp Fire groups at the various schools in the district during the next few weeks will be:

Mrs. Naomi James, Hamilton; Mrs. Hugh Whistler, Cherry Lane; Mrs. Robert Smith, El Quito; Mrs. Rae Coe, Moreland; Mrs. Dale Austin, Dover; Mrs. Beryl Garcia, Rosemary; Mrs. William Christensen, Quito; Mrs. Jo Johns, Cambrian; and Mrs. Donahoe, Blackford.

Mrs. John Nevin is organization chairman for the Campbell district and Mrs. Joe Voytek is organization chairman for Santa Clara County.

Judge Thomas O'Donnell ruled Tuesday that Twin Cities Mfg. Co., of Campbell is not entitled to an injunction against the upholsterers' union.

Opposing Factions Hold Parley on 'CM' Friday

Whether any sort of compromise can be worked out between the two warring factions in the current "Controlled Manufacturing" zoning hassle may possibly be determined tomorrow afternoon.

A meeting has been scheduled between a committee from the Planning Commission favoring "CM" and a committee of landowners opposing this restrictive type of industrial zoning for their property in Campbelll's new industrial park area.

City Attorney Joseph Bonacina and Planning Consultant Nestor Barrett will act as advisors to the City Planners at the conference while John M. Burnett, San Jose attorney, has been retained by the property owners in the "CM" battle.

The meeting was originally scheduled for Bonacina's office in San Jose but may be shifted to the Council Chambers in Campbell's City Hall at the request of many of the participants. The confab has been set for 3:30 p.m.

Beatty Chairman

Heading the committee of landowners is Lynn Beatty, vice-president and general manager of Western Gravel. Serving with him are Mark J. Thomas and Warren Brown, both owners of small parcels in the proposed industrial park. R. L. Townsend is an alternate on the committee.

Chairman Sam O'Brien of the Planning Commission heads the committee from the Commission. Commissioners Jim Tomlinson, Homer Hyde and Richard Salice are the other members.

Burnett, who was employed by the landowners to combat both the application and the adoption of "CM", has appeared before both the City Council and the Planning Commission. His appearance before the Council resulted in having the original "CM" ordinance sent back to the Planners for revisions.

Compromise Suggested

It was at the Commission's meeting on the proposed revisions where Burnett held the floor for three hours that the possibility of a compromise was suggested and the committee of Planners was appointed to meet with Burnett.

Burnett had to first get the approval of his clients in order to proceed with any compromise discussion. He also told the Commissioners that because of previous committments he would not be able to meet with them until this Friday. No preliminary discussion has been held between the two groups and none of the groups when contacted cared to hazard a guess as to the possible outcome of this "meeting of the minds" tomorrow.

Irks Tomlinson

This delay in negotiations, however, aroused the ire of Commissioner Jim Tomlinson at the Planning Commission meeting Tuesday.

In no uncertain terms (and for the record) Tomlinson condemned the delaying tactics.

"I deplore this situation (delay) because of what it means to the City of Campbell. We are NOT acting for the convenience of any particular group and it seems uncalled for that it has taken more than two weeks just to get together."

Car Wash Deal Burns Firemen

Indications were this week that the suggestion made by Councilman Richard Morton at the last City Council meeting that the firemen be asked to wash the two city police cars when they washed their fire trucks was not going over very big.

Especially with the firemen. They seemed pretty upset about it.

It was reported that Fire Chief Jack Scott had aired the grievances and objections of his men on the subject in a lengthy letter to Mayor John M. Chargin.

It was also rumored that the firemen themselves might be present at the next Council meeting (September 30) to further elaborate on the subject.

Morton's motion to direct the firemen to wash the police cars died for lack of a second. But the Council did suggest that the feelings of the firemen on the matter should be ascertained.

It was pretty evident that the City Dads would have their answer on that question long before the next meeting.

Local Residents Get Traffic Survey Cards

More than 8,000 owners of motor vehicles in the Campbell area this week received postcard questionnaires as part of the 18-month traffic survey that is currently underway in the county as a joint county-cities-state project.

Those receiving the cards are asked to fill them out and mail them immediately after their "Trip Report" has been completed.

In completing the questionnaire, the vehicle owner circles the "trip day" (supposedly the day following the receipt of the card) and regardless of who may drive the vehicle during the course of the day, lists all trips made by the vehicle as well as time of arrival at each destination.

The survey is being conducted by De Leuw, Carter and Company, an engineering firm. The final result of it will aid the firm in making recomendations for improvements to the county road system over the next 25 years.

Traffic interviews have been conducted during the past few weeks on highways leading out of the county. This phase of the survey, according to James W. Meyer, project manager of the firm, has been successfully completed. The engineers are analyzing the information gained from these quarters.

The engineering firm announced that 8,483 cards were mailed in the Campbell area. The names were taken from the Department of Motor Vehicles registration lists and are the first batch of more than 225,000 that are to sent out in the county in three stages. The first area covered extends from Agnew to Los Altos and 32,000 cards were mailed, of which the 8,483 were in the Campbell area.

Of this number, 7,535 were for passenger cars, 686 were for light commercial vehicles and 262 were for heavy commercial. Next week the remainder of the county, with the execption of the City of San Jose, will get cards and the following week cards will be sent to vehicle owners in San Jose.

Vehicle owners in the Campbell area were urged to fill out and mail the cards, even if the "Trip Day" is not the day following the receipt of the card as specified in the instructions.

"The success of the survey," the firm emphasizes, depends on a sufficient return of these completed questionaires.

"The average motorist confronted with congested traffic," Meyer adds, "wants to do something about it; by completing and mailing the questionnaire, he can. Simply by letting us know where he drives on an average day, he will be voicing his needs for improved traffic facilities, and will greatly aid us in making recommendations for improvements to be made over the next 25 years."

Planners Reject Apartment House

A short-handed Planning Commission (three members were absent) Tuesday night turned down the plans of Harry Smith for a sux-unit apartment building at 33 E. Sunnyside.

Basis for the disapproval was that the parcel of land on which the building was to go was not large enough under the City's restrictions to allow for six units. It was also noted that the parking spaces did not meet requirements.

Some confusion resulted when it was noted that, although the applicant had listed two lots in this application, the building was shown in the plans to be located only on just one of them.

Vice-Chairman Les Harmon presided at the meeting in the absence of Chairman Sam O'Brien. Present were Commissioners Homer Hyde, Jim Tomlinson and Ted Solari.

FULLY EQUIPPED . . . This week Dick Mayne, Campbell police officer for the last two years, began his new job as investigator in the county coroner's office. On his last day as a Campbell cop, he was the recipient of a number of gifts bestowed upon him at a "shower" given by the women employees at the City Hall. The gals scurried around to find appropriate mementos for the officer. Mayne poses with the false moustache (plus nose) and the long-barreled wooden gun, two of the most valued(?) gifts, while Chief of Police Bob Locke stands ready for added protection. Business and Professional Women To Salute All Women Who Work

"Salute to Women Who Work" is the theme for the National Business Women's Week to be observed throughout the nation September 22 through 28, by the Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs.

With the cooperation of newspapers, radio and TV stations and retail merchants, the vital part women play in the business world will be brought to the attention of the people of the United States.

In the Campbell-San Jose and adjoining area, seven Business and Professional Women's Clubs have combined efforts to produce a full week's program of events. They are Campbell, San Jose, Willow Glen, Saratoga, Santa Clara, Los Gatos, and Milpitas.

National Business Women's Week begins Sunday for the local clubs with many of the members going to church in a group. At 2:30 p.m., a guided tour of deSassiett Art Gallery at the University of Santa Clara has been arranged.

California City Officials Gather Next Week for Annual Conference

Where and how California's growing cities are going to get the future water supply needed for their ever increasing populations, and how they will meet the challenge of growth inside and outside cities will be two of the key subjects before the 59th Annual Conference of the League of California Cities to be held in San Francisco, September 22-25. St. Francis and Sheraton Palace Hotels are headquarters.

Mayor John M. Chargin of Campbell will head the delegation of local officials to the confab, including Councilmen Myron L. Fairchild, Charles Schmidt, Charles Rose, and Richard Morton.

Ten new cities have been incorporated in 1957 in California and 14 new cities were organized in 1956. Since 1950 a total of 40 new municipal incorporations have started functioning in California. A special discussion and instruction session for the officials of these new cities has been arranged for Sunday afternoon, September 22, preceding the regular business sessions beginning on Monday.

Mayor Hollis Peavey of Downey in Los Angeles County, with 90,000 people, the largest single community ever to incorporate, will be the presiding officer. F. Robert Coop, city manager of Fremont in Alameda County, which has an area of approximately 100 square miles, will be one of the consultants.

Advance registrations indicate an attendance of approximately 3,300 persons. At last year's conference in Los Angeles, there were 3,062 registered delegates and guests; in 1955 the attendance was 2,736. There are now 348 incorporated cities in California and delegates will attend from at least 275 of them. All but two very small cities are members of the League.

The impact of the new federal highway system on cities of California, and the question of closed circuit franchises for "pay as you see" television are two new subjects to come before the conference. Trends in business license taxes, the progress of the uniform sales tax program, annexation and subdivision regulations, personnel and salary developments, off-street parking and the new population estimation statute and its implications are among the general interest, rather than departmental interest subjects before the conference

Governor Goodwin J. Knight will be the luncheon speaker on Wednesday, September 25. Attorney General Edmund G. "Pat" Brown will report to the cities; State Controller Robert Kirkwood will explain city financial reports; Harvey O. Banks, state director of water resources will lead off the Wednesday morning session devoted to the state's water problems.

Other key session speakers will be Patrick Healey, Jr. of Chicago, Executive Director of the American Municipal Association, Dr. Weldon Gibson of Stanford Research Institute Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco, Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles, Alan K. Browne, vice president of the Bank of America, T. M. Chubb, general manager, the City of Los Angeles Department of Public Utilities, and Richard Carpenter, executive director and legal counsel of the League of California Cities.

Kiwanis Sponsor 'Kid's Day' Tour

The Campbell Kiwanis Club, in conjunction with other Kiwanis clubs in Santa Clara Valley, will sponsor "National Kids Day" by taking approximately 350 elementary students from the sixth grade up to a special Moffett Field open house next Saturday, September 28.

The kids, both boys and girls, will be taken on guided tours of the hangars, shown the planes, jets and other field installations. Kiwanis members will help chaperon.

Busses will leave Campbell at 8 a.m. and return shortly after noon, according to Samuel P. Reed, Kiwanis Vocational Guidance chairman, who with Wayne Fontes, Youth committee chairman, is making arrangements for the outing.

Press 'Foreign Correspondent' Pays Visit to World-Famous Taj Mahal

Editor's Note: Here is another in the interesting series by Virginia Grattan, daughter of Mrs. Roy Archibald of Campbell. Miss Grattan, a former Campbell High and San Jose State student is now on her way from Europe after two years spent on foreign soil.

She has contributed a number of reports to The Press in the past and is now reporting on her various stop-overs on her homeward trek. In the following article she tells of her visit to New Delhi and the world-famous Taj Mahal. —G. V.

By Virginia Grattan

(August 12), Leave Karachi at 3 p.m. Arrive New Delhi at 6:30 p.m.

In New Delhi, I saw the first green vegetation since Germany. It was refreshing to see tree-lined streets, lawns and greenery everywhere.

I spent a day in New Delhi, then flew to Agra. The only reason I went to Agra was to see the Taj Mahal. The only reason many people come to India is to see the Taj. The Indians have figured this out, too, and are learning to take advantage of the situation.

All Millionaires

Like people the world over, they are convinced that all Americans are "millionaires." Consequently, prices for a one-day trip to the Taj Mahal from Delhi begin at $36. This frugal working girl had to gulp at such figures. Later I found it was possible to fly there in an hour for the same fare as the train. So, I flew, but this was just the beginning of "the big hand-out."

First there was the hotel, one of the two hotels in Agra recommended for Europeans. The paint was peeling off the walls of my room, a corps of huge black ants marched on the floor, and lizards romped on the woodwork all night long. All this for the price of a delux hotel in Delhi.

Then there was the matter of sight-seeing. In the hotel lobby a certified, licensed guide asked to show me the sights of Agra. I decided to make no mistake this time and we agreed on a price in advance. But, alas, through what the guide termed a "misunderstanding," the price came to nearly twice the original figure.

At The Taj Mahal

Even in the sacred interior of the Taj Mahal a sharp-eyed youth spotted "the rich American tourist" and asked for a donation to charity. I told him I didn't have any change. He said he would give me change. I gave him the bill and he gave me change—coins no longer of value in India. I decided to give up. The people of Agra have the situation well in hand.

The Taj Mahal, itself, is a nice looking building. I didn't go into rapture when I saw it as some have, or think, like my guide, that this was "heaven on earth," but it is certainly the same familiar white marble mausoleum known the world over. It is set in a green garden with a row of fountains before it, which are turned on every Sunday. This undoubtedly adds to the atmosphere.

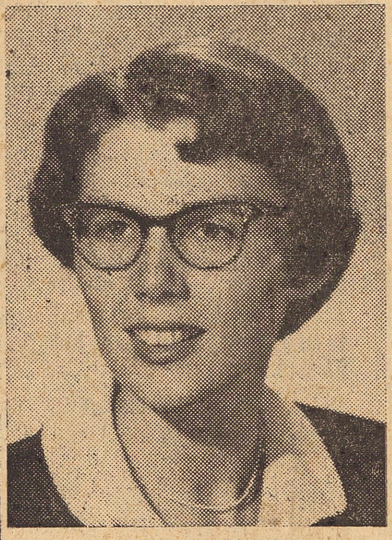
And the Moon

The moon, also, is supposed to do great things for the Taj. The hotel clerk insisted I take the $2 taxi ride at eleven o'clock at night to see the Taj by moonlight. All the way around the Taj my guide kept praising the beauty of the moon over the Taj. I was a little bored with hearing this, feeling the Taj Mahal had been more "oversold" than an American movie. I had a mind to tell him that the moon looked pretty good over the Campbell Grammar School, too, but felt it would be wasted on him. Much against my will, I had to admit the moonlight did make the Taj Mahal look pretty mysterious.

I flew back to New Delhi and did some shopping and sightseeing. Probably the best place for a vistor to shop is the government run Central Cottage Industries Emporium. It is possible to buy a wide variety of Indian goods here at standardized prices; silk saris, carved ivory figures, pounded brass trays, and many other things. The store is run by young women outside the home. I was surprised to see how attractive and modern they were even in the traditional dress.

On To Sightseeing

One afternoon, I decided to get to the bothersome chore of sightseeing. (I would much rather wander about discovering things on my own.) I got a taxi, pointed out on a map the buildings and monuments I wanted to see, and we were off.



VIRGINIA GRATTAN
. . . Visits India

My driver had a black beard and a yellow turban, and he spoke no English whatsoever. Luckily he was a good driver or we never would have gotten through the afternoon.

This is the monsoon season in India and it rains a good deal although the temperatures remain warm. Up to this time there had been good weather except for one afternoon when I was downtown, it sprinkled a little. I stood in a shop a few minutes like everyone else and let it pass and thought, "so this is their monsoon." While the taxi driver was speeding me off to the local monuments, the sky broke and rain poured from it in waves.

Drive Continues

Despite the adverse conditions, my driver kept on; the tomb of Humayun, Safdar Jang's tomb, the India gate, the Samadhi where Gandhi is buried, the buildings of the Secretariat, Parliament, the President's and Prime Minister's houses, etc. I went in at the first few stops, but after getting soaked by the rain, I stayed in the taxi, thereafter, and shot pictures out the window as we passed.

The streets soon flooded and people were wet to the skin. On the main street in Old Delhi, the water flowed bumper-deep and many vehicles were stalled. People lined the road standing in doorways out of the rain and children taking advantage of the situation, frolicked in the water. Due to the skill of my driver, we got through the monsoon safely and back to the hotel, after quite a whirlwind tour of Delhi.

Campbell High School Fields Young Team

"We will have a young team (only eight seniors on the first two units) but don't sell us short".

That's the way Jim Muir, varsity football coach at Campbell High described the Bucs of 1957 that face the tough James Lick outfit (favored to win the league crown) in the opening game on Friday, September 27.

After drilling his charges for only two weeks, Coach Muir, with only five lettermen back from last year's varsity, maintains that some surprises are in store for the other schools in the strong Santa Clara Valley Athletic League (expanded this year to 10 teams) when they face Campbell High on the gridiron this year.

Muir figures there will be six juniors in the starting line-up with four juniors and four sophomores on the second unit.

Of the five lettermen returning (one lettered two years ago and is returning to school) two are juniors, Ken Buran, full, and Dave Smith, end. The others, Verne Walton (lettered in 1956), tackle, Tom Farley, center, and Dave Alvarez, half are seniors.

The coaches, Muir, Lou Marotti (line) and Jim Bunger, expect good performances from others who have either come up from the jv's or lightweights or were on the varsity squad last year.

These include such stalwarts as Danny Grannis, tackle; Bill Compton, end; Jim Omura, end; Roy Tannehill, guard; Jerry Fuller, Jeff Kolling, guards; Frank Smith, and Jim Cole, halves. Kolling, a senior, is a transfer from Iowa while Tannehill, who got a little varsity experience last year, is up from the jv's. Omura got most of his experience on the lightweights.

By Marvin Moore

Editor's Note: Marvin Moore, 10-year old sports columnist of The Press and rated an expert on Hard-Top racing will be honored Saturday, September 21, at the San Jose Speedway when "Marvin Moore Night" takes place. The coupon that appears in his column this week entitles the holder to half-off the regular adult admission price.—G.V.

This week I will talk about point-standings. The drivers work hard to pile up point-standings.

Point Standings

The point standings work this way. The driver who wins the Main Event gets 50 points, 2nd 48, 3rd 46 and so on down the line. These count also for State and National NSCAR standings and some drivers pile up extra points by racing at Belmont, Santa Rosa, Fresno and other tracks rated by NSCAR that are running on other days than the local track.

The "B" (semi-Main) and "C" (consolation) Races give points for winning and through fifth place, but these count only for the local track.

Below are the top ten at the local track and California standings for those who race at other tracks.

San Jose Standings

Rick Henderson, Petaluma,	772
Dave LeRoy, Los Altos,	714
Paul Barsotti, Menlo Park,	656

Rites Held for Accident Victims

Funeral services were conducted last Saturday and Monday of this week for two victims of the train-auto crash on the San Jose-Los Gatos Road last week.

Death claimed its third victim in the tragic accident when Mrs. Antoinette Licatta, 28, 48 E. Rosemary Lane, died Thursday morning at County Hospital. Mrs. Rosalie Gamble, 67, and Mrs. Oleva B. Hammons, 40, both of Campbell, were pronounced dead on arrival at the County Hospital immediately following the accident.

Rites for Mrs. Licatta were held Saturday at Lima-Salmon-Erickson Memorial Chapel, with requiem mass at St. Lucy's Church. Burial was in Santa Clara Catholic Cemetery.

A native of Italy, Mrs. Licatta had lived in this country a little over a year. She leaves her husband, Pete Licatta; her mother, Mrs. Michael Grammateco, and brother, Roy Grammateco, both of Campbell; a brother Sam Grammateco of San Francisco; and two sisters, Mrs. Rose Tollin of New Mexico, and Mrs. Ann Anello of Cambrian Park.

Services were conducted on Monday at Campbell Memorial Chapel for Mrs. Rosalie Gamble. Burial was in Madronia Cemetery, Saratoga.

A widow, she leaves two daughters, Mrs. Louis Morgan of Campbell, and Mrs. Elva Bias of Cambrian Park; two brothers, James Armstrong of San Jose, and Perry Armstrong of Los Gatos; two sisters Mrs. Chloe Lewallan of Salinas and Mrs. Bertha Ward of Sunnyvale; five grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Budget Balancing

Enrollment may be made in person or by phone in the Campbell Adult Education class "Personal Money Management." In a warm, friendly atmosphere, discuss the solution to problems connected with the "financial bind", according to Ed Stanley, adult education director.

Informal "around-the-coffee-table" discussions will be visited by some of the area's money mangement experts.

Stimulating discussion will be led by William R. Siddoway, of San Jose State College, a qualified leader in this field.

Registration will be in the library at Campbell High School, Monday, September 23 between the hours of 7:00 and 10:00, or phone FRranklin 8-0079.

Ford Official Tells Cost of Producing Edsel

The cost of producing the new Edsel motor car was $400 million, L. T. Kouns, western reginol sales manager of the Edsel Division of Ford Motor Company, told Rotary members Monday. Of this tremendous investment, Kouns said, $250 million was supplied by the Ford Motor Company and the remaining $150 million by new car dealers.

Kouns said handmade models of the car, costing $40,000 each, had been stored in Belmont since April of 1955 and shown to dealers in strict secrecy before being put on the market this month.

Tony Raffanti was announced winner of last Thursday's golf tournament for members and wives at La Rinconada and presented with a trophy. Other winners in their proper handicap were Forrest Reese, first; Homer Hyde, second; Mario Saia, third.

In the "Blind Bogy" division Les Harmon was first; Dobie Jeffers, second; and Jack Payne, third.

In the "Ladies Flight" Mrs. Jack Payne was first; Mrs. Bernie Bush, second; and Mrs. Mario Saia, third.

Club Assembly will be next Monday, September 23, at Live Oak Inn, Los Gatos, with dinner at 6:30 p.m.

NEWLYWED MR. AND MRS. JACK YOUNGREN . . are shown before the altar of the Congregational Church immediately following their 2 p.m. wedding ceremony on Saturday, August 24. The bride is the former Joan Dianne Farley. The young couple are now making their home in San Jose.

James Peterson and Lorraine Grant Wed in Double-Ring Ceremony

Before an altar banked with white chrysanthemums and gardenias, James Peterson and Lorraine Grant recited vows that united them in marriage September 1 at the First Presbyterian Church of Los Gatos. The 8 p.m. double-ring ceremony was read by the Rev. C. James Miller.

Lorraine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell H. Grant, 15233 National Ave., Los Gatos. She attended Campbell High School, is past princess in Los Gatos Bethel of Job's Daughters, and is now a senior nursing student at Santa Clara County Hospital School of Nursing.

James is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Peterson of 56 W. Cherry Lane, Campbell. He is a graduate of Campbell High School and is now a junior at San Jose State College where he is majoring in Physics.

For her wedding, Lorraine selected a full-length princess gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta styled with Sabrina neckline and three-quarter sleeves. Her elbow-length illusion veil fell from a cap of Chantilly lace and seed pearls and she carried an arrangement of white orchids and stephanotis with satin streamers upon a white Bible when given in marriage by her father.

Maid of honor was Mona Ann Laird of Los Gatos who wore a ballerina-length seafoam green nylon lace over taffeta and carried a bouquet of golden chrysanthemums.

Bridesmaids were Ann Goldsworthy of Monterey and Russelene Haggard of Campbell, both of whom also wore seafoam green nylon lace over taffeta. Their flowers were bronze chrysanthemums.

Preceding the bride down the aisle was Susan Peterson of Campbell, niece of the groom, in a short pink nylon chiffon over taffeta and scattered a basket of rose petals.

Boyd C. Fair, Jr., of Campbell acted as best man and Charles Little and Ronald Todd served as ushers.

Mrs. Grant, mother of the bride, wore ashes-of-roses lace with a black velvet hat and patent leather accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mother of the groom, Mrs. Peterson, chose navy lace over taffeta, a navy hat and accessories and a purple orchid corsage.

Vocalist was Everett C. Hiler who sang "With This Ring I Thee Wed", "Because", and the "Lord's Prayer". He was accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Arthur Gillespie.

Following the ceremony, a reception for approximately 100 guests was held in the church social hall.

Before leaving on a honeymoon trip to Yosemite National Park, Lorraine donned a French blue silk shantung dress and matching blue accessories.

The newlyweds are now making their home at 2369 Moorpark Ave., San Jose.

Social Chatter

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Casey of 105 S. Third Street enjoyed a rare experience last Saturday evening when they attended a reunion of Tom's eighth grade class at Edgemont Grammar School in San Bruno.

The get-to-gether was held at Uncle Tom's Cabin and included former Edgemont students from all over the United States. Tom reports all he could say when first meeting former classmates was "My, how you've grown!"

Back from a week's vacation in the Sierra Nevada Mountains are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gilpatrick of 216 W. Latimer Ave., their daughter Marilyn and her friend, Carol Ostermeir. The Gilpatricks stayed at a cabin on the Cosumnes River near Placerville and Blanche (Mrs. Gilpatrick) reports they did some exploring of small out-of-the-way villages and is still bubbling over with enthusiasm over the town of Volcano, population 90.

It seems the town was founded during the "Gold Rush" days and is still almost in its original state. People there live in a placid, unhurried way, and have no desire for the hustle and bustle of large cities. They open and close their businesses when they feel like it and customers can wait until they do.

Blanche says the one concession the town's people have made to modernization is a large park complete with barbecue tables, pits, grass, trees, and a huge swimming pool which was built and financed by the 90 people in the community. Now each family pays $10 a year for use and upkeep.

In the town they also found a man who makes wooden hobby horses, a small one-man business which they found fascinating. Like the rest of the citizens, he doesn't want his business to grow any larger, or the town either; he's satisfied with everything the way it now is.

If they ever retire, Blanche says, here's the place they want to live; it's so peaceful.

College Faculty Wives to Host New Members

Some 107 wives of new faculty members will be guests of honor at a 9:30 brunch to be given at Red Coach Inn, on Saturday, September 21, by San Jose State College Faculty Wives.

Mrs. John T. Walquist, wife of the president of the College will welcome new members and Mrs. Stanley Benz will talk on "Education and Recreation in Colleges As Well As Communities."

At this time Mrs. Jean I. Greenleaf, new president of the club, will introduce her staff of officers for the ensuing year who are:

Mesdames Lorraine Tansey, vice-president; Ann Leonard, secretary; Helen Saunders, corresponding secretary; Blanche Walton, treasurer; Carolyn Scott, hospitality chairman; Jane McDonald, publicity; and Helen Brazil, historian.

Section chairmen will also be introduced during the brunch.

Faculty Wives will hold their first general meeting of the fall when they meet for lunch, Thursday, October 3 at Havenly Foods, Santa Clara, at 12:30 noon.

Club plans for the coming year were outlined by Mrs. Floyd Greenleaf last Saturday at a luncheon for executive board members and section chairmen

Church to Hold Annual Picnic

Transportation will be arranged for those who do not have cars, but parents who have cars are expected to take their own children. Those having room for extra passengers are asked to phone the church office, FR 8-4418.

How we gear telephone service to protect your family in emergencies. To guard essential phone services against emergencies of all kinds, telephone people plan ahead continually. Here are some of the things we're doing: We're completing alternate communications routes around key cities. And most main cables are now underground. They could withstand a terrific battering. Phone buildings are widely scattered and built extra strong. They are among the sturdiest standing. But were a vital link knocked out, we have plans ready for quickly restoring essential services. And within the company we've set up alternates for key jobs. We test these precautions often. As needs change, we change with them. For we want to be sure communications vital to your safety are ready if they're needed.

'Help Us to Help You'

Residents of Campbell received postcard questionnaires this week in which automobile owners are asked to list the trips taken by their vehicles during a "trip day".

The cards are part of the 18-month traffic survey that is being conducted by an engineering firm to determine the traffic facilities needed by the county.

The survey is sponsored jointly by the county and the various cities of the county and the results of the survey will aid greatly in the making of recommendations for improvements to be made over the next 25 years.

As the spokesman for the engineering firm says, "The average motorist confronted with congested traffic wants to do something about it — by completing and mailing this questionnaire, he can."

Instructions on the cards request that you circle the name of the week-day that follows the day you receive the card. This is designated as your trip-day.

We assume that most of you have received the cards earlier in the week and your "trip-day" has already come and gone.

However, we realize that many of you have not bothered to fill out the card because possibly you did not realize the importance of the survey or how in the world such questioning was going to help the traffic situation.

We therefore urge those of you who have neglected to fill out your trip-ticket to do so at your earliest convenience and mail them in. Perhaps this does not follow the instructions exactly as it pertains to your "trip-day", but we know that your delayed report will help the big picture nevertheless.

Filling out the questionnaire is not a complicated procedure. It will not take much of your time. It will only be necessary to list the time and the place, not the distance you traveled.

All of us realize that no survey is worth more than the percent of participation. That is why we urge you to take the time to fill in the card, for it is to all of our benefit that the study of the traffic needs in our area be as complete as possible.

Three types of cards are being used in the survey. One is for trucks one for light commercial and one for automobiles. We feel that if proper cooperation is given, the survey will be of great value to all of us.

So we repeat what the engineering firm has put on each card: "Help Us to Help You".

Santa Clara Raps 'Shabby' Industry

Of interest to Campbell residents should be the news report concerning a current industrial zone problem in the City of Santa Clara.

We think it has an indirect bearing on the current "Controlled Manufacturing" (CM) zoning hassle that is taking place in Campbell.

We quote from a recent news story: "Industries are not selecting Santa Clara's industrial area in which to locate because it is "shabby and unattractive", the Santa Clara Chamber of Commerce charges in a letter to the City Council today.

"Chamber Mgr. K. S. Pearman cites one instance where a firm located in Sunnyvale because that city's industrial area has architectural controls, set-back provisions and landscaping regulations. He cites another instance in which a firm now in the Mission City industrial area is considering moving because of the 'shabby and unattractive' appearance of the present factories and the surrounding area."

The letter further asks the Council to deny a use permit for a wrecking yard in the area and to study ways and means to create an ordinance to force the present factory operators to improve the general appearance.

The Press feels that the situation now confronting Santa Clara in regard to improving its industrial area should act as forewarning to all of us in this community in lieu of the criticism that local Planners are faced with in attempting to establish "CM" in Campbell's industrial park.

If nothing else, it should give us all food for thought. Do we want a similar situation to take place here?

The future will be here before we know it.

We think there are enough "shabby and unattractive" spots in Campbell at the present time.

"CM" apparently might have helped Santa Clara.

Over the Years

By John D. Blaine

The bicycle crisis is caused by things that have completely escaped the news. This has happened because the bicycle does not have news value.

Suddenly popular with children is a new type of bike. It is called a racer. It is of lighter construction. It has smaller tires. It is painted in attractive colors. And most dramatic of all, it has three speeds.

The gear is shifted by the simple flick of a small lever on the handle bar. The shift mechanism is dependable. It works. In Europe and England it has been in practical use for a generation.

These three-speed bikes are to be seen in the possession of delighted children everywhere, ridden by girls as well as boys. The craze for these new bikes is one of the most pronounced that ever hit our nation.

In the meanwhile the attention of adults has remained focused on motor cars. For American adults the motor car is an obsession, virtually a religion. The sense of power under the toe is intoxicating. It flatters the vanity. It is heaven on earth, a heaven in which you don't need a soul—not if you have the price of "gas."

In harmony with the adult mind our roads are made for cars only. The bike receives no recognition. Our streets are flooded with cycling children who have literally no place to go and no rules to go by. For safety these children ride the sidewalks. That some adult is not knocked down and given a cracked skull in Campbell every day is rightly to be called one of the wonders of the modern world.

California Vehicle Code says bicycles have all the rights and are subject to all the duties that apply to other vehicles in this state so far as can be. Cycling children are required to have licenses and they are occasionally lectured. But as a vehicle a bike is a different thing. And try to imagine controlling motor car traffic with occasional lectures.

In daily traffic enforcement practice cycling children are ignored as though they did not exist. They ride sidewalks where they please. In the streets they ride with traffic or against traffic, as they please. They throw their bikes down in a pile and completely block a sidewalk if they please.

Out in the subdivisions sidewalk riding doesn't matter much. Children of all ages are on sidewalks with wheeled playthings anyway. The chief problem is in the business section, with us in "the middle of town."

From a cycling point of view what ~~is~~ the middle of our town like?

Usually on both sides are parked cars. For safety and consideration of moving traffic the cyclist is supposed to ride as close to the right side as possible. At any moment a car door is apt to be thrown open in the cyclist's face. Getting out on the street side is the usual practice.

Cars make people lazy anyway and getting out on the street side is the lazy thing to do. Hence in laziness the entire enterprise is in harmony.

Add that in Campbell adults jaywalk everywhere. Some of our adults jaywalk within six feet of a crosswalk. For some of our adults crosswalks seem not to exist. As for crosswalks between corners, they use parking space. Hence our business people object to them. Therefore we have none.

Jaywalking is so general in Campbell in the center of town that the cyclist never knows but that some adult will step out from between parked cars.

Perhaps the responsible adult cyclist takes his chances with opened doors and jaywalkers. Cycling chidren are wiser! They often take the safer sidewalk in the very center of town.

I'm sometimes warned that in riding a bike I risk great danger. A highly religious man recently told me that I have been saved thus far only by the grace of God. Children are highly practical. They instinctively feel that God helps those who help themselves. And so they help themselves—to the sidewalk.

Such is the situation in our town and nothing is being done about it. Cycling children have the upper hand and the joke is completely on the adults.

More on this subject next week. Before we get through we may find this subject rather big, involving quite a bit of social philosophy, moral courage and what not.

OUT on the LIMB

with George Vierhus

Several weeks ago we ran a picture we took of Hunts Food water tower on which the names of "LARRY, RON and BERT" are emblazoned.

Although we have a clear view of the tower from our office window, we had not observed the names on it until just recently. We did not know when they had been painted on.

We have now learned from what we consider an unimpeachable source that the names were put on there last Halloween, almost a year ago. This certainly goes to show how unobservant we are at times.

We have received several calls from people who claimed they knew who "Larry, Ron and Bert" are. We reassured all our callers that we were not "after the kids" and as far as we knew, no one else was.

We ran the picture because we thought it was newsworthy (even if it happens to be that we are 10 months behind the times.) But we weren't trying to catch anyone. That's for sure.

The parents of one of the three came in to purchase some extra copies of that particular issue and that's when we learned that the deed was done last Halloween. We also learned that their son is now in the Navy and they wanted to send him the papers.

We didn't bother to find out his name. But even if we did know the names, we wouldn't tell you.

So there.

—o—

Don't get us wrong. We are not condoning the action. We realize there was a certain amount of danger involved and there was some damage done. Undeniably it will cost Hunts several dollars to remove the names, if they deem it necessary.

Yet we feel the acts of the three young guys are comparable to acts that young Americans have been committing for a 100 years or so, especially on Halloween.

We think it is conceded that there has to be some outlet for the energies of youth. But how much better is this name-painting escapade than some of the other actions attributed to youths of today?

We refer, of course, to these hoodlum gangs with their knives, their clubs, their chains and their cowardice in attacking innocent people for no reason than they outnumber them.

We must confess that we sorta chuckled when we first viewed the name on the water tank.

But we NEVER chuckle over the antics of some of these teenage hoodlum gangsters.

—o—

Cliff Cassiday took his family to the county fair on Sunday and all week he has been muttering in his beard about the "gyp artists", as he calls 'em, who operate the rides at the carnival on the fair grounds.

He insisted that we mention in our column something about the short, short rides that were offered the youngsters. One hardly had time to pay before the ride was over, Cliff fumes. We agree with Cassiday that in many cases the kids don't get their money's worth and perhaps this year it was worse than ever.

However, carnival people have never been known for their generosity toward the public.

What's that they say, "never give a sucker a break."

—o—

John Burnett, San Jose attorney representing the property owners objecting to "CM" zoning for the new industrial area of Campbell, did his part to turn the Planning Commission meeting of several weeks ago into a court room scene.

In an unprecedented action, Burnett insisted upon Nestor Barrett, planning consultant, being sworn in as a witness in order to be cross-examined on the "stand" by him. We know we told you all about that in our news story but in rechecking our notes, we find something we forgot to tell you.

Nestor was never released from the witness chair!

The "cross-examination" turned into a very unsatifactory affair and Burnett left off questioning in apparent disgust.

But no one bothered (at least, according to our notes) to release poor old Nestor. Of course, we know it really doesn't make a whale of a lot of difference. But several weeks have already gone by, and Nester should be pretty tired, it seems to us, sitting all this time.

—o—

Our notes of that same meeting reveal another interesting sidelight of that "day in court" that also concerns sitting.

When Burnett's so-called "cross-examination" started, Attorney Burnett sat himself down in the front row and proceeded to question his "witness" from that point.

Whereupon Commissioner Jim Tomlinson (not an attorney) suggested that as long as this was proceeding along courtroom tactics he thought the counsel should direct his questions from a standing position as per the etiquette (he thought) of a real courtroom.

Burnett pointed out that in a courtroom counsel does sit when questioning. Other attorneys present (including City Attorney Joe Bonacina and Commission Chairman Sam O'Brien) agreed this was true.

So Burnett sat.

And, as we have reported, so did Barrett. (And he still is sitting as a witness according to our record).

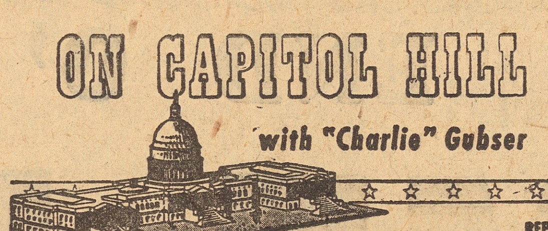
ON CAPITOL HILL



with "Charlie" Gubser

REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS
TENTH DISTRICT, CALIFORNIA

Some interesting "odds and ends" have accumulated on my desk this week that might just as well be transferred to my typewriter.

With 1960 not too far off Congressmen are speculating about what will happen to their district as a result of the next census and the reapportionment of Congressional seats which follows. After the 1930 census, 27 representatives were lost by some states to others, 1940 changed 9 seats and 1950 resulted in a swap of 13 seats. In all of these situations a diminished delegation from many states caused long time friends and colleagues to bitterly campaign against one another for one of the remaining seats. Congressmen aren't looking forward to this happening again.

California, according to the latest projected figures compiled by the Census Bureau, is a cinch to gain at least seven seats bringing its total to thirty-seven, Florida will gain three, two each will go to Michigan and Texas and one each to Arizona, Ohio, Indiana, Maryland, and Oregon. Losers will be Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and Arkansas to the tune of two seats each. One seat will be stricken from the rolls for Alabama, Georgia, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Minnesota, Mississippi, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Virginia and West Virginia.

In 1970, if present trends continue California should gain five more seats and go into a 42 seat tie with New York for the largest number of delegates. Ohio, Arizona, Colorado, and Florida should make further gains. Between the 1960 and 1970 reapportionment 10 states stand to gain Congressmen and will gain these seats from 21 others.

—o—

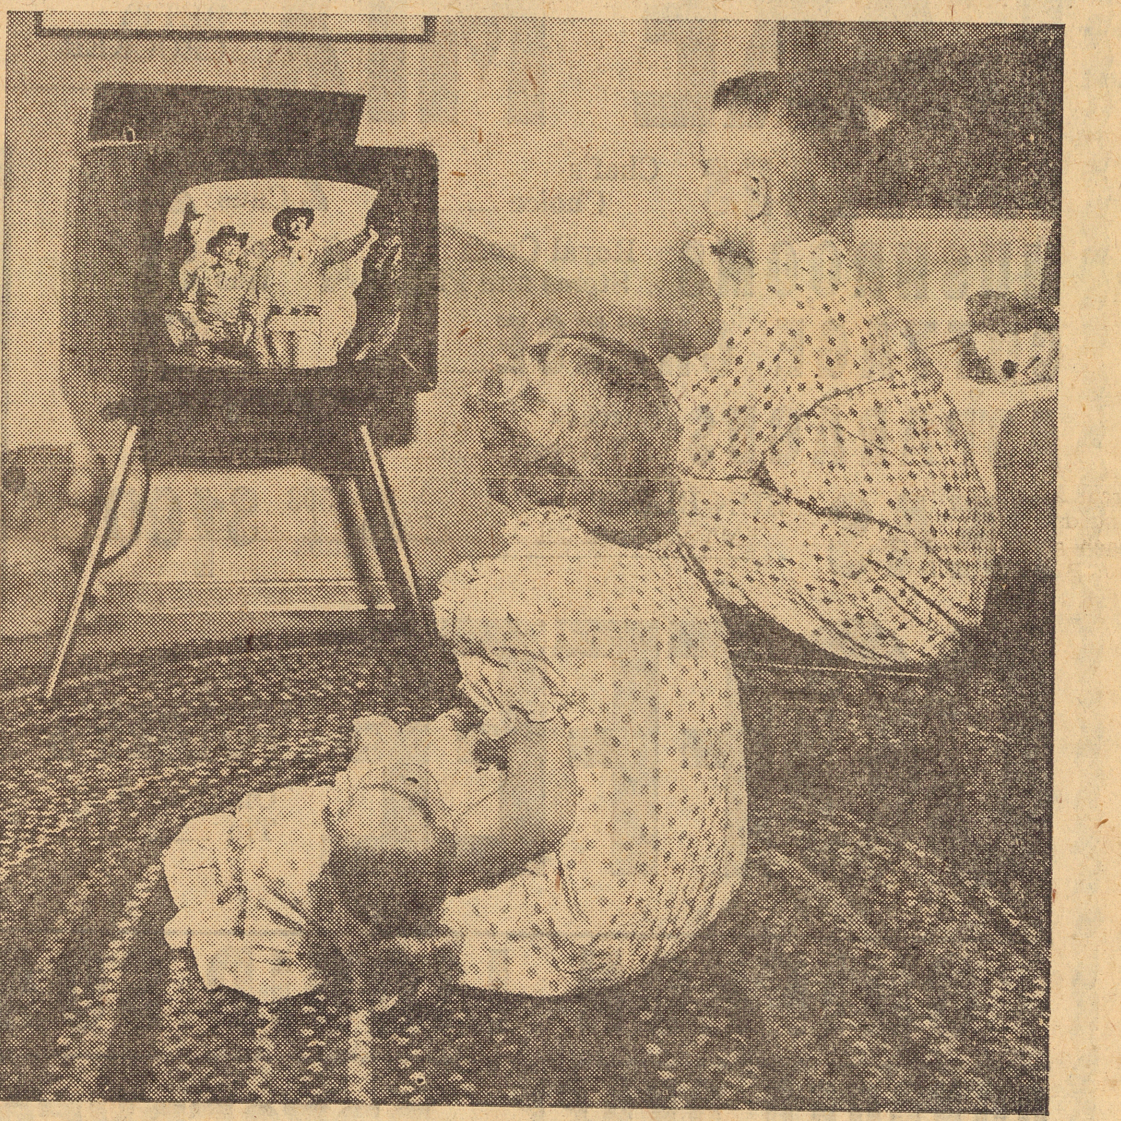
Last July 10, Lewis L. Strauss, Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission told a House Appropriations Subcommittee that that the luminous dial of a wristwatch delivers more radiation "by something like a factor of 2 than all that received from the accumulated fallout to date."

—o—

In the next campaign both parties will be claiming the credit for the first Civil Rights legislation passed in 80 years. The official record, which is itself subject to some interpretation, shows that on 33 Civil Rights votes in the House and Senate during the Roosevelt and Truman administrations 81% of Republicans favored them as compared with 41% of Democrats. In 1956, 168 Republicans voted for, 24 against, while Democrats voted 111 for and 102 against. This year, 168 House Republicans voted for the Civil Rights bill while 19 registered opposition. Democrats mustered 119 for the bill and 107 voted "nay".

—o—

Best prognosticators of our adjournment date turned out to be Capitol Hill secretaries. Early in July they had solidly filled the appointment book in the House Office Building Beauty Shop—until September first!



TV'S MORE FUN...
when there's a second one

With so much good entertainment in sight this Fall, a second set will mean more fun for everyone in the family. The kids can have their "horse operas" (behind closed doors)...and Mom and Dad can watch their favorite program, too. Low prices make this the time to buy that second TV set...and turn your old model over to the kids.

Use the chart to take a poll of your family's TV tastes (if you can't get together, a second set is the answer).

O'Connor Fund Drive Under Way

Solicitation of individual gifts for the $300,000 O'Connor Hospital Expansion Program is now underway headed by Paul L. Lion, Jr., of Lion's Furniture Company.

The expansion Program, which is being sponsored by the O'Connor Men's Advisory Board, seeks to provide 30 additional beds at the hospital. These beds will make hospital care available to more than 1800 patients every year. In stressing the urgency of the need, Lion said hospital facilities have not kept pace with progress in San Jose and the people of this area are faced with the plight of not having hospital beds available when needed.

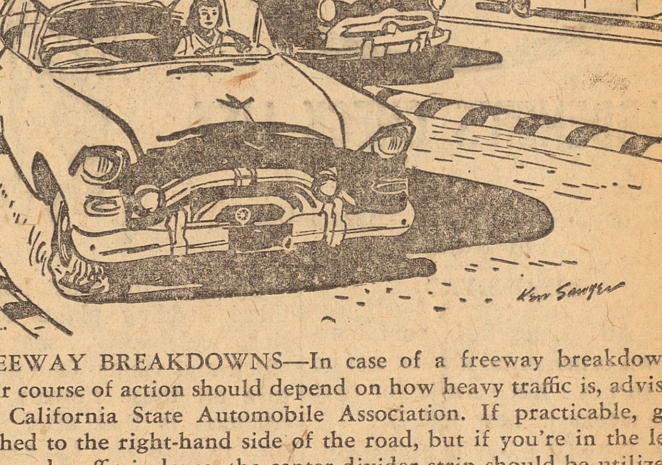
Women At The Wheel



FREEWAY BREAKDOWNS—In case of a freeway breakdown, your course of action should depend on how heavy traffic is, advises the California State Automobile Association. If practicable, get pushed to the right-hand side of the road, but if you're in the left lane and traffic is dense, the center divider strip should be utilized. Under no condition should you walk across the freeway. And remember, in case of a flat tire, it's wiser to ruin the tire driving to a safe area rather than stopping in a dangerous place.

PLANNING ON PLANTING?

GARDENER'S CHECK LIST

By The California Association of Nurserymen

REMINDERS

1. All types of container-grown ornamental shrubs can be set in now. Keep moist for first few weeks in new soil.
2. Divide and transplant crowded perennials now that blooming period is over.
3. Get rid of the pests in your garden with a regular spraying program. A good all-purpose spray will save time and money.
4. Put in fall and winter blooming perennials from flats now.
5. Lift and store gladiolus bulbs when leaves begin to turn yellow or brown.

Bedding Plants

"If Winter comes, can Spring be far behind?" This line from Shelley's "Ode to the West Wind" strikes a note of hope in the description of a cheerless winter. But a California winter definitely need not be a cheerless winter.

For in California we have springtime beauty in mid-winter with the help of some lovely annuals which bloom all winter long when transplanted in succession in autumn. The California Association of Nurserymen cautions, however, that the transplanting season for these wonderfully useful bedding plants is rapidly ebbing. Soon it will be too cold for fledglings. Right now winter blooming annuals in flats are available in many colors at local nurseries for use in all mild winter areas in the state.

Some of the most popular of these bedding plants are pansies, calendulas, snapdragons, stock and violas. One great feature all these flowers have in common is that after planting they require very little care, just watering and removal of fading flowers.

The brightest spot in the winter garden belongs almost unchallenged to the Pot Marigold (calendula) with its clear bright yellows, rich golds, gay persimmons and pale apricots. This sun-loving flower is one of the most useful of annuals because it can be used in massed effects, as an edging plant or in pots or window boxes. The bright pot marigold also makes an ideal cut flower for indoor decoration because it has long single stems and has a long life after being cut.

One of the favorite flowers for indoor decoration for many years has been graceful stock. Fragrant, tall, colorful--all these attractions make stock the ideal choice for cut flowers. One species, mathiola incana, is the usual choice for the garden if cut flowers are your aim. The lovely grey-green foliage is topped by spire shaped fragrant flowers of white, rose, pink, purple, carmine and red. The other stock species, mathiola bicornia, has small lavender flowers which emit a delightful fragrance at night.

Snapdragon (antirrhinum majus) is a short-lived perennial usually handled like an annual because its flowers in the second year do not live up to the gaiety of the first year. The tiny flowers cluster in long spike-shapes in many colors, pink, rose, salmon, yellow, copper, maroon, crimson and pure white. The "tetra" hybrids are the most popular today and they may be obtained in mixed or separate colors.

Violas and pansies, which belong to the same family, make perfect edging plants and are just as ideal for pots or window boxes. These two low-growing beauties come in a wide range of colors. There are varieties of each in yellow, blue, apricot, white and ruby. In addition, violas cover the complete scale of blues, from pale lavender to deep violet. Recent introductions of pansies have had flowers measuring 4 and 5 inches in diameter.

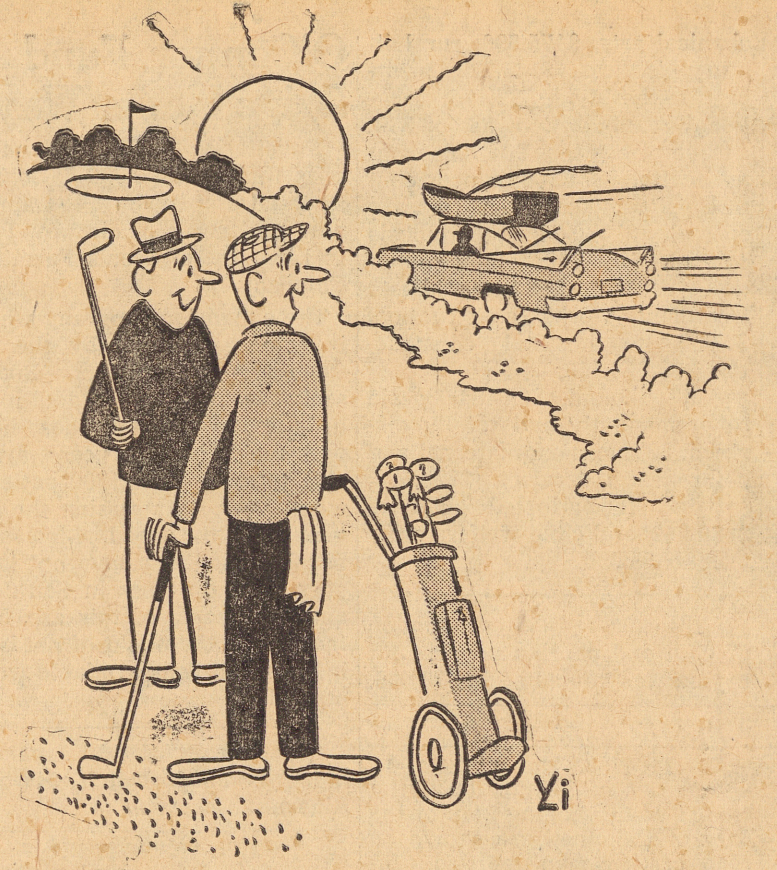
All these lovely plants should be transplanted into good soil with some steer manure added. They should be watered at planting time and kept moist until definitely settled in their new locations. After they are established, violas and pansies will continue to take a more than moderate amount of water. The others need very little.

Annuals all bloom longer if the flowers are removed as soon as they begin to fade. This is done naturally when the flowers are cut for use indoors, and for the other plants it can be done easily when watering.

New Fruits For '58

Several new fruit trees, introduced during the last two bare root seasons have proved extremely popular for home gardens. But the home gardener must check with his local nurseryman to see whether the new fruits are for him because trees vary in fruiting quality according to climate, some requiring colder winters.

At this time of the year, gardeners have a choice of buying trees in containers or of placing an order for winter delivery of their selection.



"Can you imagine anybody crazy enough to get up this early in the morning to go fishing?"

Danger Rides the Highways

Optometrist Survey Reveals That Many Drive with Defective Vision

Capitol News Service

Are more than 20 per cent of the drivers on American highways potentially dangerous because of defective vision, with or without glasses?

The American Optometric Association, Inc., which surveyed 3,000 persons in 25 states, says more than one out of five drivers may not be able to meet "minimum standards for safe vehicle operation set by safety authorities."

Fred P. Williams, chief of the Drivers License Division of the California Department of Motor Vehicles, said it all depends on "just what is required by the standard."

The AOA said much technical terminology is used in describing vision problems and tests but anyone capable of driving could understand what the visual requirements for safe driving were. It listed five types of tests, and the percentage of drivers in the survey which fell below acceptable standards:

Acuity, 21 per cent, ability to focus and see clearly with each eye separately and both eyes together, particularly at some distance.

Depth perception, 22 per cent, ability to judge space and distance.

Lateral phorias, field of vision, 17 per cent, ability to see to the sides when focused straight ahead.

Vertical phorias, muscle balance, 13 per cent, ability of two eyes to point simultaneously and easily to the object to be seen.

Inadequate field of vision, 10 per cent.

The AOA recommended periodic re-examination of vision of all drivers, through vision exams for accident repeaters, more use of licensed vision specialists as consultants, and adoption of minimum standards in acuity, glare resistance, adaptation to low illumination, distance judgment, breadth of field of vision and color vision.

Williams said California drivers are tested only for acuity, through the common "eye chart." test. If applicants fail this test, Williams said they then are sent to vision specialists.
